

SIR JOHN POWER ADDRESSED A LARGE AUDIENCE ON THE PRESENT SITUATION IN EUROPE

Sir Arthur Currie Present—Largest Audience This Year at Canadian Club—Economic and Industrial Position of England Today—United States Made Trouble by Repudiation of the League of Nations.

"Mother England is very proud of her Son Canada," but hopes that her son will soon come and help her in carrying the burden of the Empire," said Sir John Power yesterday to the Canadian Club, at the conclusion of an address in which he sketched the conditions in Europe, and the development of the present situation there. In his talk Sir John emphasized the tremendous burden Great Britain had to carry in acting as peacemaker in Europe, with three great countries unable to help her. Germany was in a weakened state Italy needing the strong hand of a director, and France eager to be at the throat of her hereditary enemy, while the United States held aloof repudiating her delegates promises to France.

Hugh O'Donnell was in the chair with Sir Arthur Currie on the platform. The Canadian Club had its first big turnout at this meeting an audience of over two hundred following every word of the speaker. This was one of the only two public appearances of Sir John in Montreal. He has been making a tour of Canada, ending in Montreal. To-day he sails for England, where he is member for Wimbledon.

The speaker took his audience back into history for a parallel situation to that which existed at the close of the war. The last struggle was that closed by the treaty of Vienna in 1815. At that time the nations of Europe, with two outside nations, having in mind the smaller and Eastern nations, managed to save their individual prestige and replace Europe much in the same position it was before. Such a settlement was not possible at Versailles in 1919. Unprejudiced, calm consideration of the problem was out of the question. The prevailing attitude was "Have done with war," it was thought that by doing away with the signs it was possible to do away with the effects.

France was in a difficult position. She was anxious to crush Germany, to make herself as secure as possible. She was forced by the English speaking countries to accept a map of Europe, secured by a promise that these countries would guarantee her against the encroachments of the Germans. Here the speaker made a stir by stating that all the subsequent trouble arose from the failure of the United States to honour her delegates signatures "England," he declared, "I am proud to say, has always honoured the signatures of her delegates."

When the United States withdrew the policing of Europe became a serious problem. Austria was dismembered, Russia against everything European cherished in the world. Germany of course helpless of the remaining three nations Italy was full of troubles. France, after the failure of the U. S., was furious, she felt betrayed—would trust no one. She was intimidated by the thought that she would get no fruits of her victory. "What was she to do with her enemy?" She was in no condition to listen to reason, and Great Britain had to stand by and watch the invasion of the Ruhr, helpless. At Cannes England's offers of personal protection from Germany were rejected with not only contempt but contempt. A parallel case to her attitude was that of Cato in the Roman Senate, when after each speech, he concluded with the words "And as for Carthage, destroy her."

Another difficulty arose from the efforts of Woodrow Wilson, and the subsequent rejection of his proposal by the United States. As the speaker put it, "Mr. Wilson threw a bomb into Europe. The bomb exploded, the United States retired from the scene, and England was left to clear up the mess." The difficulty of the situation may be gauged by the fact that where there were six minor states in Europe, now there are thirteen. Where there were formerly 32,000,000 inhabitants, there are now 104,000,000 and all armed to the teeth. The situation is a good illustration of the effects of pouring new wine of democratic enthusiasm into the old bottles of ancient tradition-bound states. It has been left to Great Britain to make of the League of Nations a workable reality. "The time will come," said Sir John, "when the United States will be sorry that she left the good work in other hands."

Things began to look brighter in the spring of 1925, when Germany by her action showed that she had abandoned any hopes she had ever had of regaining Alsace-Lorraine, a thing that helped greatly was the wise heads in France began to recognize the futility of holding down a nation of 66,000,000, full of virility.

At a meeting of German notables the following points were discussed: 1. Whatever the personal opinion of Germans was, she had been adjudged guilty by the rest of the world, and that Germany must definitely show that she was in favour of peace, and always had been.

2. Germany credited France with the same feelings towards herself that she herself had had at the close of the Franco-Prussian War, 1872.

3. Owing to the policy of inflation Germany was absolutely without any working capital, and before she could use her factories and carry on her business, all of which was in good condition, she must borrow money from the other nations.

"No greater feat has ever been performed than bringing peace out of this chaos," declared Sir John. Part of the pact formed was that Germany should enter the League of Nations. Much apprehension has been aroused by this entrance, which the speaker denounced as entirely unfounded. "Germany will behave herself," he said, "as a man behaves himself when he is anxious to be admitted into good society." On the contrary the entrance of Germany will strengthen the League.

There is absolutely no doubt that the League has done a lot it cannot abolish war. By its constitution it pledges itself to go to war on certain occasions, but it can kill small disputes in the bud. Small things taken in time prevent war. Outside of the League three nations refuse to take part in the noble work. They are Mexico, Russia, and the United States.

The object of the League is to abolish the necessity of the shedding of blood in defence of freedom. "And also," he added, "No more shall neutrality war fat on blood shed for freedom."

Turning from general European affairs, the speaker switched on to English affairs. He remarked on an editorial that had appeared in a Canadian paper, asking how much England had made out of the war, and bewailing the little that Canada got. It was a lie that England got anything. The conscience of England was always in the right place.

England entered the war with an income tax of about a penny in the pound. To-day the income tax of a rich man is about half his income. Her national debt before the war was £750,000,000. To-day it is £3,000,000,000. For four and a half years England produced nothing but war supplies, for four and a half years she starved herself to win the war. "The children born after the war have not the vitality of those born before the war," he declared. All through the war England lent heavily to others. In spite of this she is asking for nothing back except to pay demands made upon her by others.

The great clash to-day is between extreme nationalism and economic unity, and the last is winning. This clash England found in questions of "Dominion Status" and "Irish self-rule. In the opinion of Sir John, Ireland under her own leadership is heading straight for bankruptcy."

The principal difficulty to-day is of course that of unemployment. It is necessary or at least thought so, during the war to make extravagant promises to the workmen about a coming Golden Age. However excusable or justifiable this may be the fact remains that it must be paid for, and England is paying for it now. The truth of the matter is that there is not less employment in England to-day, but a larger population. This is due to the fact that the immigration has almost ceased and this surplus population is finding itself being crowded out. Since 1914 there have been five and a half millions increase in population. The war cut off one million of this, one million have been absorbed in industry, and the remainder form the unemployed and those who have emigrated.

The role, Sir John stressed was not charity, but unemployment insurance. It is no more charity than the insurance a wife gets when her husband dies.

No other country has a financial record to show like England's. England has to live by her ability. The country (Continued on Page 2)

LAW RUGBYISTS DEFEATED BY MEDICINE TEAM

Semi-Final Game Full of Thrills
CHISHOLM GOOD

Spectacular Runs and Plays
Mark a Keen Struggle

The Medicine Rugby Team by defeating Law 8-6 in a hard fought battle, yesterday afternoon on the campus, has earned the right to play Science in the final for the Wood Cup, the game to take place in the near future. This ought to provide one of the best interfaculty games of the year, for both teams have proved their worth in several conflicts and ought to be fairly evenly matched.

In the game yesterday excitement ran high, for each team had beaten the other once and the betting was about even. The score 8-6 is just about indicative of the way the play went. The game was a ding-dong struggle from first to last, providing many thrills for the numerous supporters of both sides, and proving that there are several men of intercollegiate calibre on both teams.

A spectacular pass in the first quarter from Chisholm of Medicine to Peacock, who made a beautiful thirty-yard run to Law's twenty yard line, was indirectly responsible for Med's first score. After a buck and a successful inside kick, Chisholm kicked a pretty drop to tally three for the Doctors. Law then tightened up and by dint of heavy bucking had advanced the ball to centre field when the first quarter ended.

Score 3-0 for Medicine. During the second quarter Law had all the running, twice blocking Medicine's kicks and making substantial gains on end runs. It was during this period that Ogilvie of Law made the finest run of the game—a fifty yard dash through half the Med. team to the goal-line for a touchdown right between the posts. Dick Price converted making the score at half time stand at 6-3 for Law.

During the third period the play was remarkably even, both lines holding well; though kicks were blocked on both sides and fumbles became more frequent as the ball got heavier and more slippery from the thick mud which coated the field. Near the end of the quarter came a break for Medicine with no one back for Law. Chisholm kicked a beauty to their ten-yard line. Law got possession but was unable to advance the ball very far from their own end for the remainder of the game.

Just after the fourth quarter had begun a forced fumble resulting from a fumble snap gave Med. two more points. Score 6-5 for Law. Med had a decided edge in this final period and prevented Law from advancing much past their own forty-yard line. As a result of some nice passing by Chisholm to Flynn and Adams Med. got near enough for the former to kick a rouge for them. Score 6-6, and about three minutes to go. It looked as if overtime would be necessary. Law fought hard to advance but Med. failed with another safety touch in the dying moments of the game, making the final score 8-6 for them. The game ended with both teams struggling hard near centre field.

Chisholm as usual starred in the backfield with his kicking, running and passing. He was ably backed up by Peacock, the Med. captain and the other two halves Ramsay at outside for Meds gave a fine exhibition of tackling. For the losers Ogilvie, Price and Brannon were outstanding. Bray did some nice tackling and the backs of Laidley made some good gains.

Gordon Nairn and Campbell Cope, afflicted with injury as head line-man. The line-ups were as follows:—

PARADE IN TORONTO
Advices received last evening indicate that a big parade to the game between McGill and U. of T. to-morrow afternoon will take place. Already it is certain that the members of the Rooter's Band, the English Rugby team and the Soccer team will line up at the King Edward Hotel, and proceed from there to the Stadium. Others who wish to join in the parade will be welcomed.

MUSIC CLUB SUCCESSFULLY START SEASON

First Meeting in the Union Last Night
DEAN PERRIN SPEAKS

Louis Graveure Recital is Discussed in Preliminary Business Meeting

After the business of the Music Club had been discussed yesterday evening, a very enjoyable demonstration of the capabilities and the deficiencies of modern music was given to the assembled members by Dean Perrin. The meeting was a success as to performance for though Mr. Guillemin was not able to sing because of a cold, Warren Hurd supplied a few pianoforte selections in a more than usually capable manner, which made up for the non-appearance of other artists.

Lawrence Hart, president of the Music Club took the chair and discussed the business affairs of the club, among other things the Louis Graveure recital in February. This is one of the most ambitious tasks which the Music Club has undertaken. As the artist is a world-known baritone this feature programme should be one of the greatest drawing-cards of the music world of Montreal. Mr. Hart then called on Mr. Edel to read the new constitution. This constitution was adopted without discussion and without amendment.

Warren Hurd then gave his two selections. They were both selections from contemporary Finnish composers one being "May Night," by Paimprin and the other "Romance" by the composer Sibelius. Hurd treated these two rather weird Scandinavian compositions with great expressiveness. He showed to the gratification of all the lovers of music who were present that he was as great an artist as he is an athletic and a student.

Dean Perrin was next introduced to the meeting to deal with his subject, "Present Day Music." In view of the fact that all present day art is criticized rather severely both by artists themselves and by laymen, he urged a more lenient view of all branches of contemporary art. One of the reasons for this criticism was the claim that there had been a revolution from the classical era in music. But Dean Perrin claimed that this was not altogether a revolution but was to a certain extent an evolution. Then he dealt in technicalities of the art, and in the new ideas which have arisen as to the form of compositions. He discussed the many differences between the modern and the romantic and classical periods of music. Dr. Perrin punctuated his remarks very generously with demonstrations and illustrations from present day artists.

In the minds of some people present last night the interpretation of these selections was much easier to visualize than the works of many of the former composers. On numbers called "Mists" was well interpreted. One could almost visualize the waves lapping on a rocky beach on a grey misty day, and the booming, sonorous way in which all noises are rendered on a foggy day. Altogether it was a most enjoyable programme, and one well worth attending. A greater number of students should endeavour to turn out at future meetings of this club.

FIRST MEETING OF R. V. C. MUSIC CLUB

Piano, Vocal and Violin Selections Well Rendered

The first meeting of the R. V. C. Club was held yesterday in the Common Room and was well supported by interested students as well as some of the best known musical talent of R. V. C. and its graduates. After a brief speech by the president,

ARRANGEMENTS FOR CAMPAIGN FOR CHARITIES

Canvassing of Staff and Students

Dr. J. B. Porter Again in Charge at McGill

Arrangements for the Federated Charities campaign that will be under way all next week are rapidly approaching completion at McGill. The annual canvassing of the Staff and Students is always a feature of the attempt of the Financial Federation of Montreal Charities to get funds for the coming year, and in the past McGill has sent in respectable sums to the coffers of the thirty agencies. Last year the students alone, under the management of "Red" Field, of Arts '25, raised slightly over eight hundred dollars, while more than nine hundred individuals made large or small contributions.

This year Dr. J. B. Porter is, as usual, in complete charge of McGill. He has already organized the faculty subscriptions and is practically ready for the campaign to start. The Students' Council has appointed Brierley of Arts '26 to take charge of the student collectors, while the executive council of the M. W. S. S. will nominate a member of the Women's Society to manage the feminine end of the drive at a meeting this morning.

As the objective for Montreal has been raised some thirty-five thousand dollars over that of last year, it follows that the amount that the students should raise must be considerably more than eight hundred dollars. Each class president will be requested to see that some member of the class is appointed to attend to the complete canvassing of the class during the coming week. In several cases, men have already arranged to look after their own groups, but in others the president will be approached, and he will be asked to arrange for men to cover his year.

It is probable that representatives of every class will be requested to meet next Monday to complete the organization for the campaign, and the officials of each class are requested to inform the student managers of the names of their choice as soon as possible.

The idea of the Federated Charities is well known. Some years ago, many of the charitable agencies, Protestant and non-sectarian, united for better efficiency. By this means overlapping of effort, was abolished, decrease of overhead, and general increase in the quality of service accomplished, and the public and subscribers benefited by the restriction of tag days and appeals for aid to one section of the year. At this time, there are thirty agencies combining to form the Federated Charities.

The students of McGill, especially under Geo. Grimson and "Red" Field, the leaders of the last two campaigns, enthusiastically supported the idea, and instances of men giving twenty five dollars were by no means rare last year. In all, exclusive of the staff, there were nine hundred and thirty-seven subscribers in McGill last year, giving a total of eight hundred and seventeen dollars.

All who would be willing to assist in the work of canvassing, or in any way assist the McGill managers are requested to get in touch with J. G. Brierley (WE 0584). Class Presidents are asked to appoint representatives as soon as possible.

Miss Hurd, the constitution was read and Miss Joan Marsters was elected first year representative by acclamation. The programme commenced with a piano selection by Miss N. McMartin entitled "Rondeau" by Field. This solo required a knowledge of technique and was well managed by Miss McMartin and was received with hearty applause.

"Caprice Viennoise," a violin solo by the former president, Miss K. Perrin and accompanied by Miss K. Robinson came next. Miss Perrin was well applauded and played "Gavotte" by Lully as an encore. The former piece did more justice to Miss Perrin's skill, her strength lying in fast, light playing which was given ample opportunity in the "Gavotte."

Miss J. Marster next played "Liebestraum" by Liszt which was particularly interesting as the first evidence, except at initiation, of musical talent from the first year. The programme was concluded by three songs by the foremost woman

STUDENTS' COUNCIL SENDS ROOTERS' BAND TO TORONTO; RED AND WHITE REVUE

W. F. Shepherd, Arts '26, General Manager—Producer, Graeme Y. Gorrie—Word "Varsity" to be Discontinued—Dental Thrift Dance Nov. 27th.

That the Rooter's Band will go to Roba Dunton (R.V.C.) and Margaret Toronto for the University of Toronto-McGill Game this Saturday was finally determined at a meeting of the Students' Executive Council held yesterday afternoon. The personnel of the Red and White Revue Committee, with W. F. Shepherd, Arts '26, at its head as General Manager, was approved.

The Rooter's Band has already earned sixty dollars, and has promises of an engagement at the Capto Theatre. In addition to this they have concluded a broadcasting arrangement with the Canadian National Railway. As the balance required to finance their trip to Toronto was forthcoming on private subscriptions, the Council saw no reason why the band should not make the trip.

The Council approved the following committee to be in charge of the Red and White Revue, 1925. General Manager... W. F. Shepherd. Producer... Graeme Y. Gorrie. Tickets... Hugh E. O'Donnell. Publicity... K. Sheldon MacLean. Music... M. C. Davis. Dancing and Costumes... Misses

A letter was received from Dr. A. S. Lamb requesting that the word "Varsity" be discontinued when reference is made to the University of Toronto, and this was referred to the Daily for their attention.

The Dental Undergraduates' Society requested permission to hold a Thrift Dance on November 27th for the Undergraduates and Alumni of the Dental Faculty. Since this date does not conflict with any other official fixture the Secretary was instructed to write the Principal's office recommending its approval.

MACCABAEAN FRESH-SOPH DEBATE SOON

Annual Event Scheduled For Sunday
AT 3 O'CLOCK

Punctuality is Urged by President—Subject is Vital One

The annual freshman-sophomore debate will feature the third meeting of the Maccabaeon Circle, which will be held on Sunday afternoon in the Union at 3 o'clock, when a freshman and a freshetto, will debate against a sophomore and a sophette on a subject which is conceded to be of the most vital importance to Jewry the world over. "Resolved that the Zionist organization should oppose the Crimian Colonization Scheme" is the issue, and Gerald Pickleman, and Dorothy Bloomfield will argue for the sophomores, while Hulda Alexander and Lawrence Marks for the newcomers to McGill.

The inter-year debate has become an annual event in the Maccabaeon Circle. Last year the freshman succeeded in defeating a sophomore team. On that occasion both teams were composed of male members of the Circle. The introduction of women speakers comes as an innovation in this debate and is regarded by the executive as one which should add greatly to the quality of the event.

A special appeal was made to the members of the Circle by S. Schwisberg, the president, last night, when he urged that there be absolute punctuality on the part of the members in order that more time might be possible at the meetings for general discussion.

"The subject of next Sunday's debate is a vital one," he declared. "If the members will be on hand at the hour we have set we should be able to get under way in time and that would permit adequate time for a clear discussion from the floor—such a discussion as has been in the past, one of the great features of the Maccabaeon Circle."

The freshman-sophomore debate has always aroused considerable interest among the members of the Circle and this year's event promises, the executive states to be a successful and as interesting as the debates of previous years.

singer of McGill, accompanied by Miss K. Robinson, Miss James and Miss Robinson work extremely well together having been on a tour in connection with the C. P. R. this summer. The first song "In Flander's Fields" was well suited to the season; the second, "Trees," a well-known favorite; and

A sock on the foot is worth two in the eye.

ALL TICKETS FOR JUNIOR DANCE SOLD

Many Disappointed in Rush for Prom. Paste Boards
PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

Work on Decorations to Commence Next Week

One of the last business meetings of the Junior Prom. Committee was held last night in the R. V. C. with James V. Russell presiding. The main business coming before the meeting was the returns from the ticket sellers in the different faculties. Nowhere was an extra ticket to be had. Every faculty seemed to have indulged in a mad rush for them and in Science alone over twenty juniors had to be turned down. Lots were drawn for the lucky ones and anyone holding a ticket who finds himself unable to attend will be able to get rid of it at a profit. This augurs well for the success of the Prom. It shows that every junior is behind the enterprise and not only the juniors for men of every year were working tooth and nail to get one of the printed slips.

Very little more was discussed at the meeting. The favours were dealt with finally and will be on hand for the eventful night. The final details of the decorations were worked out and their publicity carefully guarded against. Work on these decorations will commence at the first of next week and will be continued right through till Thursday.

Since many voices have been clamoring for the definite programme the committee decided to make it public. It is printed as follows:

- 1—Fox Trot
- 2—Fox Trot
- 3—Fox Trot
- 4—Fox Trot
- 5—Waltz (Moonlight)
- 6—Fox Trot
- 7—Fox Trot
- 8—Fox Trot
- 1st Supper Sitting
- 1st Extra—Fox Trot
- 2nd Supper Sitting
- 2nd Extra—Fox Trot
- 3—Fox Trot
- 10—Waltz (Moonlight)
- 11—Fox Trot
- 12—Fox Trot
- 13—Fox Trot
- 14—Waltz

the third, "The Leaves and the Wind" a most charming song for a soprano voice. All three were excellently rendered despite the fact that Miss James had a slight cold. Tea brought to a close a very successful meeting.

AN INVASION OF TORONTO

Last week-end members of several of the athletic teams representing the University of Toronto were in Montreal competing in various branches of sport. They returned to their Alma Mater covered with glory, leaving behind them the record of well-won victories.

Since then another week of the college term has slipped by, and now it is the turn of the men of the Red and White teams to make a journey. Late last night the soccer men left for the Queen City, this morning the Senior Rugby squad will set out for the same place, while to-night the English Rugby team will follow them both.

While it is not in our place to offer any prediction as to the results of the encounters, we feel sure that the McGill representatives will carry on in the manner of true sportsmen. After all, the question of win or lose is far less important than the question of whether a team is known as one that plays clean and hard from the first whistle to the last.

The invasion of Toronto is of course an annual affair. This year it would seem that a larger crowd than usual will join with the teams to encourage them. A parade to the big game on Saturday has already been planned. If the result is favourable Toronto might easily be painted "red".

A WRONG IMPRESSION

There seems to be an impression in the city that the students of McGill through their "official organ" are complaining of "crooked" refereeing on the part of Mr. Bob Isbister. What started this was a paragraph in Gordon Guss's account of Saturday's game, wherein it was stated that "the general opinion of the crowd was that most of his decisions were as raw as red beef steak." There has been no intention on the part of Gridiron Guss nor of the Daily to try and make out that Mr. Isbister is "crooked." Coach Shaughnessy has stated that he and the team have always known "Bob Isbister as a thorough sportsman and gentleman," and the Daily does not pretend to say otherwise. The sentence to which exception has been taken simply meant that the crowd certainly thought several of the referee's decisions incorrect.

Crocodile Captured In C. P. R. Pullman Carriage

Windsor Station was in an uproar. A respectable Canadian station, two thousand miles north of the odorous, infested waters of the Florida swamps found that, to parody a well known song "You can take me away from Florida, but you can't take Florida from me." In other words, a crowd of "with meekly smiling jaws" had paid a visit to Montreal via C. P. R.

Sambo, Pullman porter, made the discovery while making up berths. Poor Sambo turned white (ask us not how, and anyway he ought to have known better) and politely left the visitor to the privacy of his morning toilet, and started to spread the news. News travels quickly, especially as spread by Sambo and soon a respectful, very respectful, crowd gathered round to welcome the visitor. A pause occurred when the question arose as to who should disturb him thus early in the morning. Everybody politely disclaimed the honour until at last one mortal boarded the car and plunged inside; his supporters bravely remaining outside to hold the car in case it commenced to rock. It might have rocked, but not noticeably. A gasp of relief arose as the hero appeared with his capture. One woman is reported to have sobbed when the suspense was over.

Then came the question of disposal. A majority voted against putting it in the river owing to the children next summer. The Windsor Collection of odd shavings hardly seemed appropriate and at any rate nobody knew what the reptile eat except humans, so it was decided to shelve the responsibility on McGill, where everything is known. The hero, (unknown) himself brought it up to the Biology Building and confided it to the care of the Zoology department which understands everything from crocodile to worms. There in Dr. Wileys' collection, together with clams, salamanders, tarantulas, and cray fish, the crocodile now exists, fully eighteen inches long. Heaven and the department alone know what will happen to it when it grows up.

Le Petit Parisien

Dear Monsieur McGill Daily:—

I have been very much scolded by ze rugby enthusiasts because I think ze Canadian is not like ze good old rugby d'Angleterre. But I see game which interest me very much on ze campus not very long ago.

I think it was jou d'intelligence, n'est pas? Well, I do not know which — par la monde, they are dress in all ze colours of ze rainbow, but at ze finish they are of one colour—mud. Ze kicker ran for to kick off and he slip in ze mud. Ze ball got more or less in ze mud. We all laugh with heart. Then he take one more new start, but just as he run, ze ball fall from its position. And we all laugh with more heart.

Once more he kick off and hit opposing man in ze face, which make him look like negro. He make one fumble and all ze players drop on ze ball with great emphasis, which send puddle of mud right to my spectacles.

Adieu! I nevaire have such nice time in my life. I laugh and enjoy myself with all ze spectators when ze players slip and roll in ze mud.

After demi-heure a l'ze gallant players make for benches. I can laugh at ze expressions—parfondioux, zey look as if zey come from combat with Germans. Zey limp and make grimace of stiffness for why? Because there is grand numero of co-ed on ze stand, which exclaim in tones sympathetic "oh, ze poor chap," "he must be hurt."

I mention this sentiment to a companion, and he says "Yes, you make fun but you would make grimace at injury. You laugh when monsieur kicker cannot kick ze ball, but I bet you cannot kick yourself."

So I say with quick repartee "Zat may be so, but I do not pretend to play ze rugby."

I am of many regret for this letter of little interest, but an attack complicate of laryngeal tonsillitis heebie-jeebie (so call by ze university medicine) is filling up.

Your affectionate friend,

AUGUSTINE DEBUCKETTE

PARLIAMENT NEWS

It has been decided to hold the second session of the Mock Parliament on Tuesday, November 24, in the hall-room of the Union. In the last session, the Government under the Speaker administration was defeated on its speech from the Throne by a small majority. The Right Honorable Mr. Naier is now premier and will lead his party against the Opposition which is under the leadership of the Right Honorable Mr. Speaker. The principle subject for discussion in the second Parliament will be: that the British North America Act be amended to permit Canada to amend her own constitution. This means that Canada could be independent of the Imperial Government concerning changes in her constitution. Undoubtedly they will be unable to settle this question in the course of the evening but it is certain that the subject will be given intelligent discussion, the consideration, and the study which should characterize all student discussions.

The first session was marked by the enthusiasm which creates keen interest and almost makes an equal division of the House. It was conducted with all the dignity and quiet humour which is present at these events. The principle subject for discussion was the tariff which has been and always will be one for a heated and lengthy debate. Although the attendance was not very large at this first session the speeches from both sides of the House were excellent and it is hoped that a larger attendance at the next assembly will inspire the speakers to even greater efforts. The Literary and Debating Society expect to hold a third parliament on December 9, this will be the last session before the Christmas holidays, and the University of Montreal will probably be present. This session will be the most important of the term and it would be a wise plan for all those who are interested to remember the date. On the same night three men who will soon be chosen will go down to the States to debate with three women members of the Bates College Debating Society on the following subject: Resolved that the United States should enter the World Court, McGill having the negative side of the subject.

In the past few years McGill has debated at several colleges in the States and also in the Maritime Provinces, and on one notable occasion Oxford University debated here. The Literary and Debating Society have planned an extensive program, a large number of debates being scheduled, and will be on a sharp lookout for new material.

Friday The Thirteenth Is Chosen By The Professors For Match With Students

Challenged by the professors to play the annual Professors-Students Match on Friday the Thirteenth of November the McGill Chess Club this evening will meet the staff team in the McGill Union Lounge Room at 8.15.

That superstition does not exist in the ranks of the McGill teaching staff was the opinion expressed last night by members of the executive of the Chess Club commenting on the fact that the professors had named Friday the Thirteenth as the date of the match.

"The staff is confident of repeating its victory of last year when the students went down to defeat. On that occasion they were led by Prof. S. B.

Slack, who was one of their strongest players. While he can no longer be with their team, Dr. A. S. Eve, who is now the honorary president, and who has established himself as one of the outstanding chess players among the professors will lead the staff tonight.

The matches in the past have been very keenly fought and an exciting evening of play is expected by both sides.

The students team will be composed of some of the members of the "B" and "C" teams which the Club has entered in the city league. The professors will in all probability be represented by eight men.

RUGGER TEAM OFF TO TORONTO TONIGHT

Captain Roome will not play; Is Still in Hospital

The rubber team will leave for Toronto to-night and will meet Varsity in the return game for the Intercollegiate title, on Saturday morning.

Since last Saturday, when Varsity won 6-0, the team has got in some hard practice. The threequarters, who did not work together as they should have, in the last game, have been practising every morning at seven, and show some improvement.

In order to win the round McGill must win by at least seven points.

Captain Roome will be unable to play as he is still confined to the hospital. McDougall will also be absent from the line-up. Hare has been elected acting Captain for the rest of the season.

McGill will be represented by the following men:—Hare (capt.), Evans, West, Campbell, McInerney, McGinn, Graeme, Playfair, Stacey, Montefiore, R. E. Brown, C. Brown, Patterson, Knowles and Howell.

CHORAL SOCIETY HELD PRACTICE LAST NIGHT

The practice of the Choral Society went with a swing last night. The various parts were well represented and the spirit of the members was excellent. It was therefore possible for the conductor to put in some real work and thus the outlook for the Concert is bright. Unless anything unforeseen happens the Society will come before the public before Christmas. Next weeks practice will positively be the last opportunity offered to intending newcomers to register their names and commence to practice. Those members who are already somewhat irregular are requested to tighten up in order that the high standard of previous concerts may in no way be impaired.

MEDICAL FRESHMEN BANQUET SOPHOMORES

This evening, at seven-thirty, the class of Medicine '29 will be entertained at dinner at the Mount Royal Hotel, Salon D, by the class of '30, the freshman year of the faculty. The event carries out a tradition of some years standing, and, from the preparations made, should equal or surpass any of its predecessors in the good time offered. For, on the toast list are such names as Dr. Martin, Dean of the Faculty, Dr. Simpson, Dr. Tait, and Dr. Lloyd.

Among other members of the Medical Faculty to be present are Dr. McDermott, Dr. Searth, Dr. Bliss, Dr. Campbell, and Dr. Bridges, while the can only produce enough to feed 12,000,000 of her 30,000,000 population. The rest must live by their ability, unaided by tariffs and competing against the world. "I prefer to call Englishmen peaceful traders," said Sir John. "Rather than a nation of ship-keepers." England has no cause to fear peace. As soon as peace is assured, England will get her share. England has now paid £500,000,000 off her debt and reduced her annual interest by £7,000,000.

Last year she voted £1,000,000 to aid Canadian trade. This money is being used in research to find better ways of transporting colonial produce to England and in propaganda for Englishmen to buy British goods. She is doing her best to show what Canada as a seller can do for England as buyers.

Sir John Power finished his address by remarking on the different ways England and the colonies were trying to work together. "England is very proud of Canada, and hopes that Canada, will help her to carry the burden of Empire," he declared.

Jack Spector moved a vote of thanks to the speaker at the conclusion of the address.

INJURED SCIENCE PLAYER IS BETTER

Fred Weldon, who was thought seriously injured in the Science-Dentistry game of the interfaculty rugby league last Wednesday, is now resting easily in the Ross Memorial Hospital. He had broken a blood vessel, but is doing so well that he is expected to be out again within a day or two. However, it is unknown whether he will be able to reappear on the Science line-up, and the loss of such a good half may seriously hamper the Plumbers in their race for interfaculty honours.

Students' Council will be represented by Basil MacLean, and the Medical Undergraduates' Society by Jack Wall. A seven-piece orchestra under the leadership of Harry L. Bacal, of first year, will be in attendance. The Dress is informal.

In case there are any of first year who have not yet obtained tickets, these may be had from members of the banquet committee, during the morning session.

BASKETBALL

There will be a practice for the basketball squad on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday at 5.15 p.m. in the M.H.S. gym.

INTERMEDIATES BATTLE QUEEN'S THIS AFTERNOON

Says the Watchful Waterboy:

This afternoon the McGill second team more commonly known as the Intermediates will battle against Queen's for the Intermediate Inter-collegiate championship of Canada. A win for the Intermediates will put them in the final and within striking distance of the championship. Although some of the men who helped the team win the Quebec championship have been moved up to Senior company they still can present a formidable line-up.

Darkness had already fallen over the stadium and in fact over the rest of the city, long before the players welcomed the "round the track and into the field-house" order. The men went through a real hard drill. The plays were worked, as the boys are wont to say, with snap and precision. The end plays were getting out much faster and were pretty to watch. Both the Seniors and Second showed great style and this week end should prove a happy one for McGill.

Gorrie, who will play flying wing this afternoon, was kicking the ball around and was getting both height and distance. Chisholm and Millen will chase down after the punts. The snap position left vacant by Wright is being filled by Munroe, the husky boy, and late of the Arts Rugby team. Curly Taylor, who showed great form against the M.A.A.A. on Monday will hold down a back position. Grassick and Arnold will team with him. Bazin, better known as the "Brainy Quarter" will be chairman at the conferences and will otherwise call the signals.

The two "Ps", Pugh and Petch (not in any way related to Halg and Haig) will play on each side of the snap. Carson and Omeria will fill the middle wing positions. The coach is also taking along five men to do relief work. All in all things look very bright and I wouldn't be at all surprised if the Intermediates came home with another victory chalked up against them.

Their task, nevertheless will be a hard one. The Queen's Intermediates are known as the "Fighting Seconds". They more than earned the name when they defeated the R.M.C. squad in an over-time game. Ada the Queen's kicking star is a great football player, and he sure can boot 'em. Young is a bear at grabbing up fumbles and can do some pretty broken field running. The Queen's line is a good one and our line plungers will have to do some tall line plunging to make substantial gains.

Well, we will have to stop arguing. All we can do now is sit down and smoke our pipes and wait for the results. And by the way the Intermediate team is leaving from Bonaventure station at 2.45 this morning. The Seniors are leaving for Toronto at 9.30 a.m. Tomorrow, however, is another day and I will let you in on some secrets about our prospects for the Varsity game.

This afternoon's line-up will probably be as follows:

SOCCER TEAM AT TORONTO TODAY

Will Try to Retain Last Year's Title

The Soccer Team left last night for Toronto where they will engage in the Intercollegiate series. McGill is at present the holder of the title which was won in the play-off with R.M.C. last year. The chances of retaining the championship are quite good as all the men are in good shape after their successful trip to the States, where McGill beat Springfield by a comfortable margin, tied 3-3 with Yale, but lost to West Point after a close game.

McGill plays the first game in Toronto this afternoon against the Blue and White team. The winners of this game play R.M.C. in the final game on Saturday morning.

R. V. C. TO ASSIST AT THEATRE NIGHT

Misses Dunton and Burton on Revue Executive

The women students of McGill have decided to assist in the production of the Red and White Revue again this year. Yesterday at a meeting of the M. W. S. S. Miss Roba Dunton and Miss Margaret Burton were elected as representatives on the Executive Board of the Revue.

These two representatives will have power to veto only suggestion as to the part the women students will take in the Revue if the plans should not meet with their approval.

In this way Miss Dunton and Miss Burton will hold a very responsible position and a suggestion was made that a sub-committee should be appointed to which two representatives could refer only matters which they might consider of too great importance to decide on their own initiative. This would also prevent the plans for the Revue being discussed at any open meeting. No such committee has yet been elected but it will probably be given further consideration as rehearsal for the Revue may begin before Christmas.

DR. NICHOLSON ATTENDS MEETING AT OTTAWA

Dr. Nicholson, registrar of this university is at present in Ottawa, where he is attending meetings of the Canadian Educational Association. He is also taking part in the Convention of Provincial Registrars. Though he does not belong in either of these associations, he is acting in an advisory capacity, and it is believed that the interchange of ideas between the provinces of Quebec and Ontario will be productive of beneficial results.

DENTS TO HOLD A THRIFT DANCE

Reg. Winn and his Orchestra
To Provide Music

At a meeting of the Dental Thrift Dance Committee, held yesterday in the Medical Bldg., it was decided to have the Second Annual Thrift Dance, which is a novelty event, in the Assembly Hall of the New Medical Bldg., on Friday, November 27.

Reg Winn and his Collegians, who are well known in college circles for the splendid music they provide, were given the assignment of the musical end of the programme and will play on this occasion. The committee decided to have a sit down supper in contrast to the Buffet lunch which was served last year; another innovation will be the Supper and Dance Program which was submitted by Mr. Whitehead and shows merit and originality. In view of the innovations and improvements decided upon it was thought advisable by the committee to advance the price of tickets to $1.50 this year, thus assuring the success of the dance.

The Dental Thrift Dance has taken its place as the Annual Dance of Dentistry, and Mr. Victor Jokill its originator was appointed Graduate representative of the Committee and promises a large turn out of Dental Grads.

The appeal of the Thrift Dance appears to be its informality and due to the efforts of the Committee who have carried out an elaborate system of catering and decorating, promises to surpass the success of last year.

The members of the Committee present at the meeting were H. E. Smith, J. R. Carson, R. Wan, and E. Whitehead.

They're Here—

These New, Luxurious Yellow Cabs

They're here in Montreal. The first shipment of the new luxuriously comfortable Limousine-type Yellow Cabs are ready for duty—ready to answer your call to Plateau 6161—ready to carry McGill Students in a degree of comfort they never thought possible in a taxicab.

They're on the streets. Have you seen one—have you ridden in one? Have you noticed the long, beautiful lines, the extra roominess, how silent the motor is, all the latest innovations—all the refinements in equipment and design that rivals the most expensive privately owned limousines? Yellow Cabs of Montreal have always given their patrons the finest, most prompt, safest, most courteous service. Now they offer the world's most magnificent cabs. The upholstery is genuine brown Spanish leather. The plate glass windows and doors are raised or lowered by mechanical regulators. A frosted dome light keeps the interior bright and cheery while a heater controlled from the driver's seat keeps you warm in cold weather.

And the comfort of the drivers has not been overlooked in these magnificent new cabs. While completely separated from the passenger, his seat is entirely enclosed, giving him full protection from the weather—keeping him warm, comfortable and happy.

Call Plateau 6161 for your next taxi—it pays to be a Yellow Cab patron.
